PROFILE

The Quinta da Bacalhôa is located on the north-facing mid-slopes of Azeitão. Here, it finds the ideal terroir for the production of outstanding wines: well-drained clay-limestone soils and a mild climate due to the strong Atlantic influence. The grape varieties planted on the estate benefit from these natural conditions, allowing for a slow and balanced ripening process.

The individual wines fermented at a controlled temperature (25°C), followed by a one-week cuvaison period (post-fermentation skin maceration). After separation from the solid matter, the wines aged for 12 months in new 225-litre fine-grain French oak barrels.

Subsequently, a rigorous selection of the finest wines produced on the estate was carried out, barrel by barrel, culminating in the final blend of Palácio da Bacalhôa 2019. Bottling took place in September 2022, after which the wine continued to age in bottle in the estate cellars until its release.

TASTING NOTES

The 2019 vintage displays a deep red colour and remarkable concentration, with pronounced notes of red berry fruits combined with nuances of coffee, mocha, vanilla, and dried fruits, supported by a full-bodied, complex, fresh, elegant, and persistent structure.

HISTORY

Starting in 2000, we sought to mark both the turn of a century and the acquisition of one of the most significant monuments in the history of Portugal, the Bacalhôa Palace and Estate, through the testimony of wine. Considered a unique wine of exceptional quality, it embodies the company's concept and philosophy, "Art Wine Passion", in an exclusive and numbered edition, featuring a personalized message signed by Commander José Berardo.

Over the years, a common concept has remained: revealing the soul of a unique place that we preserve and care for as something extremely precious to us, the Bacalhôa Palace. The central image changes every year, while Commander José Berardo's message reflects his own state of mind regarding the world, life, and wine.
